

Corporate Flu Vaccination Service 2019

Helping you protect your people throughout the flu season

Let's feel good

A man in a dark pinstriped suit jacket and a woman in a white business shirt and glasses are sitting at a desk. They are both smiling and looking down at some papers on the desk. The man is holding a pen. The background is a bright office with a computer monitor and a window.

is the number of sick days the average Irish employee takes each year at an average cost of €818* to the employer

How flu vaccinations can help

Flu vaccinations are a simple and cost-effective way to:

- Promote a healthy workplace, reducing the costs and disruption of unexpected sick leave
- Position you as a leader in corporate wellbeing with people's health interests at heart
- Improve employee engagement, which makes for a happier workplace and increased productivity

How protecting your people can help support your business

Seasonal flu is a big cause of short-term illness. It's contagious so can spread around your workplace and can result in time off work. A flu vaccination ahead of the flu season can help keep workers healthy and stop flu from spreading.

Protect ahead of the flu season

Early autumn is the best time to be vaccinated against seasonal flu as this will help maximise protection before the start of the flu season

The Boots Corporate Flu Vaccination Service offers you and your employees protection against all four strains of flu and is recommended by the World Health Organization (WHO) for the upcoming flu season*

Ask us about our Pneumococcal and Shingles Vaccination Services

Pneumococcal Vaccination Service

The pneumococcal vaccination aims to prevent a range of serious illnesses such as pneumonia, septicaemia and meningitis. In adults the vaccination is recommended for everybody aged 65 years and over, and only in those aged 18 to 64 years with certain medical conditions,* those who smoke or who are exposed to metal fumes through their work (ie. welders)†

Shingles Vaccination Service

Shingles is caused by the same virus as chickenpox, the herpes-zoster virus. It can be reactivated when the immune system weakens due to increasing age, stress, or certain conditions and treatments eg. cancer. It can be very painful and the older you are, the worse it can be. The vaccination can be provided to people aged 50 or over.† The vaccination aims to help reduce the risk of developing shingles and also the risk of developing severe nerve pain called post herpetic neuralgia if you do get shingles.
